PRICELESS

First Thoughts New Editor

Yes, I am pleased to confirm we do not have a new editor and I have interviewed nobody and nobody has come forward to take over from me. To be trueful I love doing this job when it's done. In between I have no idea how I feel. So if anybody is interested please come forward just before I am about to deliver a new Gazette.

My news this month is that whereas last month all I had was a 'Clicking Jaw' now I also now have sausage finger syndrome. fact In was only yesterday, that our brill G.P. offered to chop off three of my swollen infected fingers or just soldier on. No idea why suddenly have three sausages on my right hand as I type this. The advice was to keep it raised for a week and take four anti-biotics drugs everyday. BUT just for your pleasure I have to ignore this for two days as it's now Saturday 10th April and by the 12th 9am this Gazette has to be with the printers. I do hope the 80 Gazette emails sitting in my in-box are all well written, carefully considered and ready for me to just cut and paste. The majority now are very good and have helped me do my job. So, thank you.

I think a few of us had a TV Company contact us as they were looking to make a new TV series in this area. I was fortunate enough to be offered a presenter role as my 'First Thoughts' submissions had really made an impression and impacted the lives of so many, bringing many to tears. Although I did decide to turn down the MBE this year. When I do get the TV job then we will really need a new editor.

It was brass monkey's weather when I popped out early this morning. It was down to minus 2C and the car windows needed scraping. To the likes of Amanda Owen that is nothing but to me it was cold for a mid April day. I noticed that on Reeth Green a group of NHS Covid Testers were gathered, so I kept my nose down literally and decided to get some testing kits later. Good for them helping on a Saturday. As far as I am aware (my awareness means nothing I know) no Covid cases have been reported in Reeth but I must be wrong

I have my Spotify playlists playing as I write this. ' At 17' by Janice Ian is playing, another track I love. I find myself always listening to the music of my early life and the nearer I get to 60 I seem to be thinking more and more of my 3 years to 20 years. Because of this and all the memories I was reliving of the year 1983, when I met Anne, I decided to set up with a 'Zoom' call with my friend Graham (Brighton based). Graham was with me the day I met Anne and we had not caught up with each other since 1985. Can you believe it ? 36 years ! With some Facebook research I discovered he still has hair (yes I am obsessed with head hair) so prepared for the meeting purchasing a David Cassidy wig. His first full sentence contained 'it could just be yesterday'. So I reckon the wig was worth it don't you? Although later on in the call when he was talking, I suddenly whipped the wig off and he stopped talking mid sentence.

I reckon he preferred me bald and that's why he just stared! Mike B

Do you know your Cat Stevens' songs then?

- No one asks for more money cuz nobody dares - Matthew and Son
- I would have given you all of my heart - The First Cut Is The Deepest
- Now that I've lost everything to you - Wild World
- It's not time to make a change just relax, take it easy - Father And Son
- Well I think it's fine, building Jumbo planes - Where Do The Children Play

The tiebreaker: The odd one out is the first one because all the rest are the opening lines and that one isn't.

And the winner is: Tom McNa 'Bim Bam' Bola who got them all correct (Unlike That Man T who thought one of the songs was called ???.) and he got the tiebreaker correct, but for the wrong reason, although his reasoning was also correct, if you follow my reasoning.

Anyway, this month, all these songs have 'Time' in the title. It's a diverse bunch which I reckon will challenge you - if you are brave enough to take up the gauntlet. I bet no-one hits me for six.

 The first thing that I'd like to do is to save everyday 'til eternity

- passes away just to spend it with you
- She'll laugh when she reads the part that says I'm leavin' cause I've left that girl so many times before
- Ticking away the moments that make up a dull day
- You don't know what's going on you've been away for far too long
- If you're lost you can look and you will find me
- Come gather 'round people wherever you roam

The usual rules apply with no internet use allowed - unless it is to listen to my show from 10.00am - 1.00pm every Tuesday on Bishop FM. (It won't help but you can have a go at guessing the years in the 'Mystery Hour') And you can now listen to my new show on Monday evenings as well from 7.00pm - 8.00pm.

Unwelcome visitors to Reeth!

We love all our visitors to Reeth but there is one which is not welcome or loved and that is the Rat.

They have been spotted at various locations around the village and it is though they may be benefiting from caring members of the community who are trying to help hedgehogs and birds by feeding them.

So, before people start thinking we have Ta-rats Syndrome, please could we just find ways of feeding the wildlife without encouraging Rattus Norvegicus. Use bird feeders on poles with catching trays and grease the pole with a silicone spray. Store bird and chicken feed in tightly sealed, heavy plastic containers and put your hedgehog food in the middle of the garden late at night when the hedgehogs are more likely to come to it, rats do not like being out in the open.

However, when it comes to hedgehogs, we should not be feeding them in winter because they should all be hibernating. If you do have hedgehogs out in winter, then it might be an idea to call The British Hedgehog Preservation Society.

Thank You

Having returned home after 2 months in hospital with Covid, I would like to give the most sincere thanks to Hilda and Kate for doing so much in the house both while I was interned and after I got home.

Also to Billy and Ailsa for manhandling and generally helping me and to the Yuill family and staff who have been so supportive. So many other people have done their bit, I cannot name them all.

I have got a great array of cards and the Football League have produced a huge gift to eat and drink. Clare (and Cody) have been looking after Nip for me.

Thanks to all of you.

Pales Police Report April 2021

Dales Police Report April 2021
Firstly, an update on the planned move of Leyburn Police Station to the shared facility at Leyburn Fire Station. The sharp eyed amongst you will have noticed that this has not happened yet. It is still going ahead but has been delayed due to a technical problem with IT. We will keep you posted as to when we are moving.

The last month has seen little in the way of crime.

23rd March - stand out offence was the theft overnight of 10 chimney pots, valued at over £500, from outside Cellar Antiques in Hawes. Please contact us with any information.

We have taken a number of reports of attempted scams. Please remember that a genuine bank or organisation will never contact you out of the blue to ask for your PIN, full password or to move money to another account. Only give out your personal or financial details to use a service that you have given your consent to, that you trust and that you are expecting to be contacted by. Also, don't be tricked into giving a fraudster access to your personal or financial details. Never click on a link in an unexpected email or text. And finally, always question uninvited approaches in case it's a scam. Instead contact the company directly using a known email or phone number. If you have been affected by fraud. report it to Action Fraud (0300 123 2040 or www.actionfraud.police.uk).

On a personal note, I shall be retiring in May from the police and my role as Beat Manager and Wildlife Crime Officer at Leyburn.

I would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to the many past and present colleagues who I have worked with in the last 29 years, and whose support and friendship has been much appreciated. Policing is a unique and varied career, with many challenges.

When I joined we were largely focused on crime, whereas your average officer today has a wide range of demands, not only investigating crime and disorder, but also working with partners to safeguard victims and the vulnerable.

Personally, when dealing with people I have always tried to work on the principle that behaviour breeds behaviour. This approach must have had some success as I very rarely needed to draw my truncheon, and was only shot at once (he missed!).

A big thank you to the dedicated volunteers, such as Dales Watch, who help to keep crime levels low, and Swaledale Mountain Rescue Team, who are always there to help with the seemingly impossible. They are just two examples of the support which is freely given in our amazing Dales. Others, such as my friends in the Yorkshire Dales National Park and RSPB deserve a mention, but this risks becoming an Oscar acceptance speech!

A NEW TENNIS CLUB FOR ALL ABILITIES REETH.

Reeth and District Community Transport

The new Reeth Tennis Club has now started playing games at the MUGA tennis court in Reeth. A new on line booking system is now enabling members of all abilities to arrange matches and book the court.

In addition, we are getting together for social tennis on Friday evenings and Sunday afternoons and perhaps, when permitted, enjoy a beer or wine in Reeth afterwards. The cost of annual membership is only £30 and £50 for a couple or family.

If you haven't played before, or feel uncomfortable playing with others until you improve, we will try to arrange a guided practice before you decide to join.

This could be the opportunity to take up a new hobby, with a new club in Reeth and meet people and play a sport which exercises and tones the whole body.

If you would like more details please email John and Jo Lloyd at reethtennisclub@gmail.com or telephone on 07846 291690

This month, we'd like to say a big thank you to all those we have supported, since our community Hub opened on 23rd March 2020. Who would have thought?! We have so appreciated your gratitude, flexibility and friendship. Some of you have now decided to 'fly solo' with your shopping and prescriptions. Others, understandably, feel more anxious. We would be happy to support the latter, if you would like your first shopping trip to be with one of our volunteers. Either mention it when we drop your shopping off, or contact us on 880021.

Please don't think we won't be here to continue supporting. We will! We'll also have more afternoon teas to look forward to, as and when we can, plus other activities we hope you will want to get involved in. Watch this space!

If you go up to the woods today...

... you might be in for a pleasant surprise, as over a thousand spent tree guards have been removed from Rowleth Wood.

As these before and after photos (taken from the public footpath through the wood at the Gunnerside end) show, it's made quite a difference.

Tree guards do a good job of protecting young trees. While there is debate about whether they have been used too much in the past, there is general agreement that once they've done their job, they are best removed. Not only are they unsightly, but eventually all that plastic will break up into micro-plastics and wash down into our rivers and seas.

A company in Hampshire is trialling a new type of tree guard which look and feel much like the standard plastic ones, but are made from wool! After several years protecting their trees, these tubes start to break down naturally so there's no need to collect them and no nasty plastic to worry about - in fact they end up feeding the tree!. Swaledale wool is apparently perfect.

Tubes made from wool are cost effective, carbon neutral and will hopefully go into full scale production next year. Meanwhile, there is still work to do removing plastic guards from our woodlands that no longer serve a purpose.

The 1,000 tubes in Rowleth Wood were collected just as lockdown rules relaxed to allow groups to work safely according to the 'rule of six'.

All the tubes were collected and taken away to be recycled into garden furniture and the wooden stakes were mostly piled up to make bug hotels. The plastic ties were recycled too. There are still tubes to remove from Rowleth Wood, although they will have to wait now until autumn when the ground bird nesting season is over.

The work was organised and carried out by Sustainable Swaledale and was made possible thanks to the kind permission and support of the Low Row Pasture Committee and Reeth Estate.

Pales Police Report March 2021

(this article missed the last April Gazette—hence included in this edition) The following incidents of note have occurred in the Dales area -

Firstly, some important news regarding Leyburn Police Station; whilst there has been some delay due to Covid, Leyburn Police Station will officially be moving into Leyburn Fire Station on 29th March 2021. This will give both North Yorkshire Fire & Rescue Service (NYF&RS) and North Yorkshire Police the opportunity to reinvest the savings that will be made, by sharing and improving facilities for both services resulting in an enhanced service and greater value for money to the public. Our new home is less than 100 metres from current Police station and we very much look forward to working closer with our emergency service colleagues in NYF&RS.

Aside from continuing Covid-breach reports, there has only been one incident of public interest in the Dales area this month:

Overnight between 11th - 12th March in Castle Bolton, a Landrover Defender has had its windscreen trim removed and another vehicle, belonging to the same owner, had the fuel cap tampered with. Any info - please contact us on '101'.

We are aware of an increasing worry amongst dog owners about the threat of dog theft - please can we reassure local residents that these thefts are very rare in the Dales. For further information please visit; Dog thefts - advice and guidance - https:// northyorkshire.police.uk/news/dogthefts-advice-for-dog-owners/

There are a number of steps you can take to help safeguard your dog:

- Ensure your pet is microchipped if your dog runs off or is stolen, a vets will be able to identify the rightful owner.
- Don't leave dogs unattended in the street.
- Don't overshare on social media, ensure your privacy settings are secure and don't share details about your home address or regular walking routes.

The incident was inexplicable. In a world defined by advanced technology and interconnectedness, how could an entire aircraft become untraceable? Had the flight been subject to a per- New Release February 2021

Writing for Le Monde in the days and months after the plane's disappearance, journalist Florence de Changy closely documented the chaotic international investigation that followed, uncovering more questions than answers. Riddled with inconsistencies, contradictions and a lack of basic communication between authorities, the mystery surrounding flight MH370 only deepened.

Now, de Changy offers her own explanation. Drawing together countless eyewitness testimonies, press releases, independent investigative reports and expert opinion.

ROYAL BRITISH LEGION 1921-2021 A Century of Service

On the 15th May 1921 four ex-service groups that had been set up at the end of World War I joined together to become the British Legion with the aim of supporting ex-servicemen and women regardless of rank or branch of the services. In the same year the British Legion adopted the Red Poppy as its symbol and the first Poppy Appeal was held in November of that year.

The legion were not the first to advocate the poppy as the symbol of remembrance. An American Academic Moina Michael had championed the idea in the USA and Canada and a French woman, Anna Guerin was planning to sell poppies in the UK when a chance meeting with Field Marshall Earl Haig led to them being adopted by the British Legion. For many years the Poppy Appeal was called "The Earl Haig Fund".

On the legion's Golden Anniversary in May 1971 Her Majesty the Queen bestowed the title "Royal" and so we became the Royal British Legion. In May of 1981 membership became open to serving as well as ex-service personnel.

The Royal British Legion is, by Royal Charter, the official custodian of Remembrance.

For 100 years the Legion has supported those who serve, or have served and their dependants and this vital work continues.

My thanks to all in the Two Dales who continue to support the Poppy Appeal and the work carried out by the Royal British Legion

Great Audiobook

'Dalek' by Robert Shearman

No I am not a Doctor Who fan as such. I just like a good Sci-Fi Story and this is a good one. What I particularly enjoyed were the added sound effects. The story starts with the Doctor travelling through space and time in the TARDIS when he hears a distressed scream. The scream comes from the last surviving Dalek that is trapped below the deserts of Utah in an alien artifact museum.

The Doctor and Rose go to investigate.

How do I obtain Probate?

Firstly, what is probate? When someone dies it is the legal process of obtaining the authority to manage and transfer their assets to the beneficiaries of the Will. The latter will appoint the people to do this, the executors.

The job of executor is a responsible one and is not always easy. It can take up a lot of your time and might be the last thing you feel like doing when you are grieving.

Executors must locate the will (if there is one) and secure and value all the property, assets and valuables that belonged to the deceased. They must then apply for a Grant of Probate; this is given by the Probate Office and will give the authority to the executors to be able to collect assets and investments, sell property and give them to the people who are the beneficiaries in the Will.

The probate process requires a good deal of form filling for both the Probate application and the HMRC inheritance tax assessment. All the deceased assets must be valued and recorded in the forms.

So, if you find yourself in the position as an executor will you need professional help or can you do it all yourself?

Firstly, professional help will have a cost and this will depend on the complexity of the deceased's estate.

Secondly, doing it yourself can be time consuming and risks getting things wrong.

So, what's the answer? It depends on the complexity of the estate and your willingness and confidence.

We, at Wills and Estate Planning offer a service which can be customised to suit any situation. We can do the whole process or only those parts you do not wish to do e.g., filling in HMRC tax forms and the Probate forms. We can even just act as advisors or check the work you have done. This makes the process both affordable and stress free.

If you would like a no obligation chat to discuss Probate, Wills or Lasting Powers of Attorney, feel free to contact Dawn or Richard on 01969 623092 for an informal chat, or email:

Message from the Swaledale Museum Reeth

We are delighted to announce that the Swaledale Museum will re-open on Monday 31st May, Mondays to Thursdays inclusive 10.00 am to 5.00 pm and at other times by appointment, just contact us. We can't wait to see you. Thanks to all of you who have been so supportive while we have been closed. We are now busy painting the interior and unwrapping the collection, which is a bit like meeting old friends.

Many have used the lockdowns to creative purpose over the last year, not least authors engaged with subjects related to Swaledale. We are delighted and touched to have been the recipients of support from the author of Seasons on the Hill Farm the newly published photographic record of the Calvert Family, pedigree Swaledale sheep breeders who live in Birkdale, available via <code>snap@ianshortphotography.co.uk</code>.

Some of you will remember Prof. William E. Van Vugt from Calvin College, Grand Rapids who came to give a lecture on his work on Swaledalers who left for America. The fruits of his research are now available in his new book Portrait of an English Migration North Yorkshire People in North America, published by McGill-Queens University Press, 2021. In this ground breaking book he recounts the history of those who left North Yorkshire for North America between the eighteenth century and the early twentieth century.

Focussing on individual stories of migrants and their families, this book provides many personal glimpses of the migration experience of those who left England's largest county to build new lives in the United States and Canada. Mow free May, Mohican cuts and rewilding aarden You can increase the number of bees and insects your lawn supports by not mowing the grass during May when lots of flowers are producing nectar. Use the time saved to record the (larger) number of flowers in your lawn as part of Plantlife's Every Flower Counts survey running this year between 22-31 May. Plantlife recommends that rather than cut all the lawn short, you leave some patches with longer grass to allow some of the taller plants to flower known as a Mohican cut. Follow Mow Free May with Let it Bloom June.

More at: www.plantlife.org.uk/everyflowercounts/

There is much discussion on the benefits of rewilding and you don't need a lot of land to make a difference. Check out this handy guide on rewilding your garden:

Right to repair and improved energy efficiency labelling

The government has confirmed that it hopes legislation to force suppliers to provide spare parts will come in this summer. Manufacturers will be legally obliged to make spare parts for products available to consumers. It is estimated that the ability to repair some appliances could increase longevity by up to 10 years.

New energy labels for appliances will also come in replacing the current system. Items will be graded A to G with the highest efficiency grading likely to be awarded to fewer items.

Trees

The Yorkshire Dales Millennium Trust and Sustainable Swaledale now have 12 possible sites for planting small areas of trees. A last call for anyone interested in planting trees to contact info@sustainableswaledale.org

Over 1,000 redundant tree guards have been removed from Rowleth Wood by small groups of volunteers. The wood looks more natural now that the plastic has been removed from the mature trees. The footpath between Gunnerside and Smarber will take you on a charming woodland walk with bluebells starting to make an appearance in May. Alistair MacLean

We turn a little literary for this 'talking pictures'

- and take a look at one of the bestselling fiction authors of all time, Alistair MacLean, whose writing career began with 'HMS Ulysses' in 1955. This novel was based on his own wartime experiences in the Royal Navy.

The book was a huge success and interestingly the film rights were sold to Associated British, but the movie was never made. This was of course the halcyon days of British wartime movies such as 'Colditz', 'Reach for the Sky' and 'The Wooden Horse'.

His 2nd novel in 1957 was turned into a war movie - the hugely successful 'Guns of Navarone', which was released in 1961. Winning an Oscar for special effects and starring Gregory Peck, David Niven (in a role originally intended for another British war film stalwart, Kenneth More) and Anthony Quinn, it has one of composer Dmitri Tiomkin's greatest scores - complete with actual Greek folk melodies.

MacLean's next film adaptation was 'The Satan Bug' in 1965 - starring the now almost forgotten George Maharis, and proved quite an underwhelming affair compared with many of the other films listed here - although directed by action-meister John Sturges, and with a screenplay by another top author James Clavell ('Shogun').

MacLean's 1963 novel 'Ice Station Zebra' however, proved to be a huge success when filmed in 1968. Directed again by John Sturges ('Magnificent Seven' etc) with no expense spared and a powerhouse cast including Rock Hudson, Ernest Borgnine and Patrick McGoohan. The topical 'cold war' plot captured the public's imagination and brought further success to MacLean.

We're moving into the early 1970s now. with a clutch of MacLean adaptations -'Puppet on a chain', 'When eight bells toll' and 'Fear is the key'. Although all featuring the familiar 'thriller' and 'chase' themes, the three stories, and their attendant movies, are all very different. The first adaptation, whilst featuring a thundering power boat chase through the canals of Amsterdam is rather lacklustre in other respects with a bland leading man (Sven Bertil Taube) and an 'AA' certificate at the time which lost it much of its target audience. 'Eight Bells' stars a youthful Anthony Hopkins, not particularly at ease with the 'action man' heroics called for in the plot, and with a lugubrious Robert Morley along for the ride. 'Fear is the key' however is a minor classic of the genre, with a pre-'Petrocelli' Barry Newman taking the lead in what is essentially a long 'chase' movie, culminating in the most claustrophobic finale I've ever seen. Well worth The mid-70s' brought 'Caravan to Vaccares' another underwhelming affair starring the almost unknown David Birney, 'The Golden Rendezvous' in 1977 (based on a 1962 novel) which involved bombs on an ocean liner, and in many ways was very similar to the earlier (and better) 'Juggernaut' which also starred Richard Harris.

Later MacLean adaptations tended to be inferior, although 'Bear Island' has some great stunts, a taut script and nice Arctic scenery, and the western 'Breakheart Pass' starring of all people (continued on next page)

Charles Bronson is a brisk thriller with a great train crash and a plot revolving around a plague - both well worth a look. Afficionados of MacLean may have spotted an obvious omission. which we'll have a closer look at next time - probably his most popular novel and best film - and as a little teaser here's a famous line from the script: "Broadsword calling Danny" John H

Giant artwork to be unveiled

An exhibition telling the story of schools in the Upper Dales is opening at Dales Countryside Museum (DCM) in Hawes. It features a spectacular photo mosaic made from nearly 2,300 images of youth and school-life in the Upper Dales which were shared by the local community over eight weeks in autumn 2020. A Mosaic of Dales Youth was created by The People's Picture, an art and design studio led by artist Helen Marshall. The photo tiles come together to reveal a whole new image selected by Marshall - portraits of David Hodgson of Askrigg School, aged 7 in 1954, and Joan Miller of Yorebridge Grammar School, aged 12 in 1946.

'The Story of Schools in the Upper also Dales' is told through interpretation boards, vintage and modern photographs, a short film and oral histories.

The exhibition will open at DCM on 17 May, and run till 18 July 2021. It marks the culmination of a project run by The NASH in partnership with the museum, and funded by The National Lottery Heritage Fund the Yorkshire Dales National Park

Authority's Sustainable Development Fund.

The NASH Project Manager Emily Rowe Rawlence said: 'Once we began delving into the history of The NASH, which is short for National School Hawes, we realised the landscape was peppered with little schools that played transformative roles, all with their own This exhibition maps story to tell. them out and explores themes such as the changing journey to school, the tension between learning and earning and the life of teachers, 'Kiddy Catchers' and bus drivers. It's amazing how much energy and effort goes into the making of a school.'

Fourteen oral history interviews took place with well-known local people who attended Upper Dales schools from the 1930s onwards

'Recording their stories has been a project highlight, said Ms Rawlence. 'The exhibition is full of anecdotes, from filling pockets with bullets in WWII, to walking alone through brutal weather two miles to school and back at only five-years-old, to being sent down the pub to buy cigarettes for the headmaster breaktime. Each person fascinating story to tell of a Dales childhood in the 30s, 40s, 50s or 60s. Together with the giant photo mosaic that is four and a half metres wide, they bring the last century to life."

The exhibition had been due to open on 30 January 2021 but was delayed due to the third national lockdown. The last day will now be Sunday 18 July to give the public every chance to visit. If the lifting of restrictions allows, there will also be a programme for local ...

Family Trees

I have noticed that with the continuing lockdown, people with time on their hands have turned to tracing their family trees.

So much can be done on the internet that no longer does one have to visit libraries, graveyards and archives to find individual documents only available by visiting various sites.

I have been no exception in searching family connections, although my direct ancestors have been well documented before me, I am at the stage of searching the more deviant or original members, or those who distinguished themselves in some particular field. Not many. I wish I could find more detail about the Coopers who are first mentioned in Swaledale in the 1690s.

Most northerners are aware of the famous Fenwick shops in Newcastle, Bond Street, London, and elsewhere. But they probably don't know that the founder, John James Fenwick, spent seven years of his childhood in his grandfathers home at the toll house at Hegs Gill, Ellerton. His mother (my great great aunt) had married a John Fenwick from Feldom. Her father James Cooper was a shoe maker, ran the Red Lion in Reeth, and finally moved from Grinton to Ellerton in charge of the new Toll House, where he died in 1856.

The Fenwicks moved to Frenchgate in Richmond, where they ran a small grocery. They had a large family and tiny living space. When John James was very young his mother became seriously ill, and he was sent to live with his grandparents at the Toll House. As he grew he walked each day to Reeth to the Methodist school. His mother returned from having surgery in London, and produced another five children.

Nevertheless the scattering of one's family among relatives doesn't seem that unusual, and John James remained in the Dale until he was 10 or 11. He then went back to his home in Richmond and attended the Corporation School. He did well there and spent some time as a student teacher of the younger aged children.

A document exists which states that he was able to 'work as far as square roots' and that 'his conduct was exemplary'. It indicates the promise of a successful business man. On the death of his mother aged only 44, his father and remaining family moved to Middlesbrough, where he trained as a tailor. He then moved to Newcastle, where after considerable success he founded the famous shop. The influence of his schooling in Reeth seems to have strengthened his devotion to the Methodist Church, and for the rest of his life he remained a devout member of the local chapel. One quotation which he wrote aged 22, still exists, in this it indicates his moral beliefs. "I am remembering with sorrow what a valuable part of my life has been wasted. I can find nothing of importance that I have done to benefit my fellow man, nor have I in any degree glorified God"

One thing that has intrigued me about JJ Fenwick is that he married a girl called Ann Hannah Burmand. 'Burmand' happens to be my mother's family name in Switzerland and France.

I have found since learning this that there are quite a number of Burnands in the North of England. The name appears in the 16th Century. Did they come from the same roots as my family in Savoy? We know that there are Burnands in the South of England and exactly when they came to London in the 18th Century. They remained in contact with my swiss Grandfather.

So where did the northern Burnands spring from? Did they come from France originally?

So here I am, hoping the lockdown will remain long enough for me to stumble on more information about the Yorkshire Burnands. Does anyone know any one with that name? Help!

ARKENGARTHDALE PARISH COUNCIL, March 2021

Flood risk in Arkengarthdale: A presentation was given by a WSP engineer contracted by NYCC on the feasibility phase of a flood alleviation study, which proposed potential mechanisms for alleviating the future flooding of properties in Langthwaite and Whaw. Recommended actions for flood alleviation would be included in a forthcoming report and would be developed according to the availability of funding.

Fountain Farm Consultation: The new owner of Fountain Farm had asked the council for feedback on a consultation document. This included plans for developing the property and improving the land for grazing and for conservation purposes. Residents in Booze had already been consulted and were supportive of the proposed ideas. Councillors were unanimously supportive of the development plans, but expressed concern about planting trees in sites that would obscure the fantastic views from neighbouring properties when the trees matured.

YDNPA Local Plan 2021-2040: Reeth had been categorised as a 'large village' rather than a 'town' in the consultation document, placing it in the same category as villages such as Gunnerside, Muker and Langthwaite in terms of the services it provided. Councillors agreed that this categorisation failed to recoanise the importance of the services provided in Reeth for residents in all of the other villages and hamlets of Swaledale and Arkengarthdale, and agreed that it should be formally noted as part of the consultation that Reeth was, in practice, an extremely important local "service centre" for the residents and communities of the two dales as well as for Reeth itself.

5G testbed trial: YDNPA Planning had approved the proposed 5G mast in Coverdale. A NYCC project was looking into the possibilities for extending 5G into Arkengarthdale to bring fast reliable internet connectivity. Councillors were disappointed that the new mast presently being constructed at Seal Houses was for emergency services only.

Council restructuring: Councillors considered two proposals for changes to the structure of North Yorkshire council authorities. They agreed to support the single unitary council proposed by NYCC, as it would be less disruptive for services currently being provided to the parish, whilst noting that both models would result in decreased representation for Arkengarthdale.

Flood Funds: The grant from the Two Ridings Foundation for additional floodrelated work had been successful. Work had started on the autters on the Arkengarthdale road, and tree work and beck clearance would start as soon as the weather permitted.

Stang Lane walls and bridge: The top stones along the newly built wall near the bridge had still not been replaced and there was still a hole in the wall of the bridge on Stang Lane. Identifying the responsible department at NYCC had not been straightforward.

Planning applications: An application for variation of conditions to work at Spence Intake (R/01/108B & R/01/108C) had been received and a letter of support had been submitted. ... (continued on next page)

Christian Aid Week: House to House Monday 10th to Sunday 16th May

Rose lives in Kenya and like millions of people there, she is caught in a cycle of climate chaos. From severe drought to flooding, extreme weather robs her of what she needs to survive: a reliable water source. The nearby earth dam runs out of water too quickly. With a more reliable source of water, Rose could grow fresh vegetables to eat, improve her livelihood and better protect her family from coronavirus.

Your gift could help communities withstand climate chaos: from building better earth dams to harvest more water, to sowing drought tolerant crops, to demanding climate justice at the highest level. People like Rose need us to stand together against the climate crisis.

This year we are collecting donations in two ways. We will again have an e-envelope and will also deliver envelopes in some of the villages. These envelopes will come with a request to leave the envelope at a local location rather than be collected by a volunteer as we have done in previous years. Envelopes may also be left at the Vicarage, Langhorne Drive, Reeth.

So please give generously this year in the annual House to House Collection which will be taking place from Monday 10^{th} to Sunday 16^{th} May. Please consider signing the Gift Aid declaration which is attached to the red envelope. This is at no cost to you but allows Christian Aid to receive a total of 25p in addition to every £1 you contribute. You have to pay an amount of UK Income Tax or Capital Gains Tax that at least equals the tax that Christian Aid reclaims on your donations. If this is the case, please sign the form, tear off the slip and insert it into the envelope with your donation.

We will also be on Reeth Market on Friday 14th May to receive donations but will not be holding a cake stall this year.

£20 could buy four taps for a water point at a dam, where families can collect water. £60 could buy 10 bags of cement to help a community build an earth dam. £220 could teach 50 farmers how to plant drought-tolerant crops that can survive the drought.

We look forward to receiving your support.

Very many thanks in anticipation

Steve Smethurst

Many people will be sorry to hear news of Steve Smethurst, of Crackpot, who died peacefully at home on March 11th 2021 after a short illness.

An unmistakable figure with his long hair, beard, and a selection of hats to suit the seasons Steve may be best known to many as the man who used to fuel his battered Landrover with used oil from the chippy in Leyburn, with the exhaust smell making some believe that the fish and chip van had arrived on the wrong day. Others may remember him as one of the stalwarts of the Thursday night musical sessions at the Bridge Inn where Steve and his mandolin playing would drive the musical agenda with an encyclopaedic knowledge of songs and an amazing memory for lyrics - only popping out between tunes occasionally for a breath of fresh air which he rolled himself until the last year or If you needed to hear a song about witchcraft, religion, adultery, death, Australians or worse, Steve was your man - but thankfully he tailored his songs to the audience and most of the really risqué ones didn't come out until the visitors had safely gone to bed. I have mentioned his songs, but he also enjoyed playing traditional tunes. and had a brilliant musical ear, as well as the rare ability to sympathetically improvise and accompany other players. He could play all night if needed but used to eventually leave around midnight after nursing his complementary singers glass of red wine all evening - I don't think that Andrew the publican ever made much money from Steve. After a varied career working as a lecturer in Plymouth, then in a Japanese Bank and latterly as a freelance management consultant amongst other jobs, Steve and his wife Maggi moved up to Crackpot 20 years ago where Steve almost became an honorary Yorkshireman, and certainly a fount of information and good advice regarding the ways of the Dale to relative newcomers like myself. He was matter of fact about his illness and seemed accepting of it, not wanting sympathy or fuss. He told me that he had had a good life and family and wouldn't want to change anything. Unusually he talked easily and freely about his death, with sadness but without bitterness or anger which was typical of Steve. He planned his own woodland burial with help from Maggi, and was buried with his favourite mandolin in a wicker coffin on the 25th March at a quiet ceremony attended by Maggi, their three children, and partners. Steve will be sadly missed both by them and by many in the community. I know that the local Bridge musicians will be keen to give him the musical send-off he asked for when lockdown rules allow.

The contractors had scheduled the repair work to the playground and quotes were being sought for new equipment. A grant towards this would be sought from RDC's Community Investment Fund.

Arkle Beck and Flood works

Couns Kendall and Rutter gave feedback from an online consultation meeting which they had attended with representatives from NYCC.

Litter bins

Having considered a proposal to move some of the bins on Reeth green councillors agreed that they should remain in their current positions.

New benches

The memorial bench to go near the quoits pitch had been received by the contractor and will be installed when weather conditions permit.

Parking

Councillors noted a reply received from PC Sutcliffe regarding parked cars blocking BT Openreach boxes and agreed that the Clerk should contact RT

Reeth shelter

An electrician had been contacted about the light, and Coun Frankland would be put in touch with the person who had volunteered to repair the woodwork.

YDNPA Local Plan

Councillors discussed issues covered by the latest consultation, particularly those highlighted in an email from a local resident. Coun Guy would consolidate all the replies and complete the Parish Council's response form.

Village event

Coun Guy reported that suggestions had been made about holding some kind of village event once Covid restrictions were lifted. It was agreed that this is something for later consideration.

Village clock

A single panel on the clock face had been accidentally damaged by the builders working on the Church building, but they would repair the damage. The clerk would contact the builders, and if necessary, the clock engineers, to see if it was possible to paint the face and hands while there was scaffolding around the clock.

Highway matters

Councillors discussed a reply from Highways saying that Overton Garth and the lane past the museum could not be considered for gritting because they have not been adopted. District Coun Good would make enquiries about the possibility of getting Overton Garth adopted, and County Coun Peacock was already looking into the status of the lane past the museum.

Streetlights

Coun Good had approached RDC and YDNPA regarding funding for street-lighting in Overton Garth, but without success. It was agreed that funding might be available from other sources such as the area partnership, millennium fund or Coun Peacock's locality fund. Coun Good would try to get it priced up so this could be explored further.

A letter of support would be sent concerning a proposed Millennium Trust Tree planting scheme at Thirns Farmhouse, Healaugh.

Councillors considered an email from a resident exploring the possibility of purchasing two areas of grass from the council. It was resolved that there was no possibility of the Parish Council selling the land.

District Council Report

District Coun Good reported that RDC still had available funds for some grants to help businesses through Covid restrictions. These are Additional Restrictions Grant (ARG), Closed Business Lockdown Payments (CBLP), and Local Restrictions Support Grant (LRSG). Details for these are on the RDC website. He planned to attend a national conference on preventing and managing floods.

Swaledale Mountain Rescue Team Mountain and Cave Rescue in Swaledale and Wensleydale PRESS RELEASE 16th March 2021

FANTASTIC NEWS, WE DID IT! - WE NOW have enough money in to start the project, thanks everyone.

Rescue team reaches its target to buy new incident command vehicle Key Facts

- We needed to raise £80K to buy a new Incident Command Vehicle.
- We started fund-raising on 1st November and 120 days later we reached our target.
- We are indebted to the many hundreds of individuals who have generously donated despite the difficult times many people have faced in the last year.
- Thank you also to local organisations, businesses and clubs that have donated to our fund.
- We have also received substantial grant funding from a number of different organisations: Jack Brunton's Charitable Trust (£2,000), Mr Robert Miller, Gunnerside Estate (£10,000), Nickerson Foundation (£1,000), Noble Family Trust (£500), North Yorkshire Police Fire and Crime Commissioner Community Fund (£4,780), Two Ridings Community Foundation Disaster & Recovery Fund (£10,000), Vickers Staff Charitable Fund (£500) and Yorkshire Dales National Park Sustainable Development Fund (£10,000).
- After a bespoke conversion the new incident command vehicle will be ready for call outs in September.

How we raised the money

We launched our fund-raising campaign on 1st November 2020 via a Crowdfunding site. Alongside this we used social media and in particular our loyal Facebook followers to promote our project. Within a month we had raised over £25k. With the fund-raising well under way we then submitted grant applications to a number of organisations and charitable trusts. Our fund-raising efforts also continued apace with raffles, quizzes and regular social media posts.

A number of local businesses, organisations and clubs generously supported our fund-raising efforts.

Between December and February, we were informed that some of our grant applications had been successful.

- Jack Brunton Charitable Trust (£2,000)
- Nickerson Foundation (£1,000)
- North Yorkshire Police Fire and Crime Commissioner Community Fund (£4,780),
- Two Ridings Community Foundation Disaster & Recovery Fund (£10,000)
- Yorkshire Dales National Park Sustainable Development Fund (£10,000)

On hearing about our fund-raising efforts our Charity Patron Mr Robert Miller, (Gunnerside Estate) gave us added incentive to persevere with our efforts with an offer to fund the last £10,000 of our appeal.

Incredibly just one hundred and twenty days after we launched our campaign, we hit our target of $\pounds 80k$.

David Furness, Chairman Swaledale Mountain Rescue Team

"We are delighted to have reached our fund-raising target so quickly and have been humbled by the generosity of our supporters particularly during this most difficult of times.
